

2010 Quality Leadership 100

Delta Systems, Inc. achieved the ninth spot on the 2010 Quality Leadership 100 list. The list began in 2006, and over 800 manufacturers participated in the survey this year. Companies were evaluated based on the number of quality programs in place; registration to various standards; percentage of employees dedicated to quality responsibilities; average number of hours monthly that employees receive quality training; and the role quality professionals play in the acquisition of test, measurement and inspection tools, software and services. Companies were also surveyed on the following:

- Scrap and rework as a percentage of sales
- Warranty costs as a percentage of sales
- Rejected parts per million shipped
- Contribution of quality to profitability
- Shareholder value
